

University of Cambridge

Centre of Latin American Studies, in collaboration with the Department of Social Anthropology

Latin American Anthropology
Research Seminar Series, Lent Term 2005

Tuesday 25th
January

Trevor Stack,
University of Aberdeen

Trajectories of Culture in West Mexico.

Tuesday 8th
February

Isabella Lepri,
London School of Economics

Indigenous politics from an Amazonian point of view. A programme of research.

Friday 18th
February

Jose Kelly,
Amazonian Centre for Research and Control of Tropical Diseases
(CAICET), Amazonas State, Venezuela

Doctors as potential affines: learning about Amazonia through modern relations between Yanomami and doctors in the Upper Orinoco.

(jointly with Social Anthropology Senior Seminar Series)

Tuesday 1st
March

Olivia Harris,
London School of Economics

Pachakuti: history and repetition in the Andes.

Friday 11th
March

Maria Gropas,
Cambridge/UNESCO Fellow

'The revolution is mine': re-patriotising the revolution in present-day Havana

(jointly with Social Anthropology Senior Seminar Series)

Tuesday 15th
March

Peter Gow,
University of St Andrews

'It happened in Curanja': The Nationalization of Southwestern Amazonia.

(jointly with CLAS Research Seminar Series)

All Seminars 5pm, Seminar Room G2
Department of Social Anthropology, Free School Lane

For further information, contact Sian Lazar, SL360@cam.ac.uk